

Did you know that you have the right to refuse to dissect animals in Utah?

It's true! Each year, 10 million animals (including frogs, cats, and fetal pigs) are cruelly killed and then cut up in classrooms across the country—even though humane alternatives exist. Studies have shown that students who use alternatives to dissection perform just as well as—if not better than—students who cut up animals. You don't have to dissect animals! Explain to your teacher that you won't be dissecting and that the law [Utah R277-105-5] gives you the right to say no to cutting up animals in Utah:

A. A parent, a legal guardian of a student, or a secondary student may request a waiver of participation in any portion of the curriculum or school activity which the requesting party believes to be an infringement upon a right of conscience or the exercise of religious freedom

Dissection is unnecessary and cruel. Stand up for animals, and exercise your rights. Choose not to dissect.
